

102 Color Paintings Of Marianne North British Victorian Naturalist And: A Visual Journey Through Her Botanical Expeditions

About the Book

Marianne North (1830-1890) was a pioneering British Victorian naturalist and artist who traveled the world in search of new and exotic plants. During her lifetime, she painted over 800 botanical illustrations, many of which were donated to the Royal Botanic Gardens, Kew. This book presents a selection of 102 of her most beautiful color paintings, accompanied by an informative text that tells the story of her life and work.

The Paintings

North's paintings are remarkable for their accuracy, beauty, and charm. She had a keen eye for detail, and her paintings capture the unique characteristics of each plant she encountered. She also had a gift for composition, and her paintings are often visually stunning. The 102 paintings included in this book represent a wide range of her work, from her early studies of British wildflowers to her later, more exotic paintings of plants from around the world.
