The Alliance High School, Kikuyu

The Alliance High School, Kikuyu, was founded in 1926 by the Church of Scotland Mission. The school was originally intended to provide education for the sons of African chiefs and other leaders. However, over time, the school began to admit students from all backgrounds. The school quickly gained a reputation for academic excellence, and it became one of the most prestigious schools in Kenya.

The school is located in the Kikuyu Hills, about 20 kilometers northwest of Nairobi. The campus is set on 100 acres of land, and it includes a variety of buildings, including classrooms, dormitories, a library, and a chapel. The school also has a large playing field and a swimming pool.

Carey's Legacy

Carey Francis left the Alliance High School in 1962, but he never forgot his time there. He often spoke about the school with great affection, and he was always grateful for the education that he had received there. Carey went on to have a successful career as a teacher, administrator, and businessman. He was also a passionate advocate for education, and he worked tirelessly to promote educational opportunities for all Kenyans.

Carey Francis passed away in 2017, but his legacy lives on. He is remembered as a dedicated educator and a compassionate humanitarian. His work has made a lasting impact on the lives of countless Kenyans.
