World War II was a global conflict that involved the vast majority of the world's countries—including all of the great powers—eventually forming two opposing military alliances: the Allies and the Axis. In a state of total war, directly involving more than 100 million personnel from more than 30 countries, the major participants threw their entire economic, industrial, and scientific capabilities behind the war effort, blurring the distinction between civilian and military resources.

World War II was the deadliest conflict in human history, marked by 50 to 85 million fatalities, most of whom were civilians in the Soviet Union and China. Tens of millions of people died due to genocides (including the Holocaust), premeditated death from starvation, massacres, and disease. Aircraft played a major role in the war, and pilots were some of the most important members of the armed forces.

This book tells the stories of some of the most famous and successful World War II pilots, including:

- Erich Hartmann, the highest-scoring fighter pilot in history
- Chuck Yeager, the first pilot to break the sound barrier
- James Doolittle, the leader of the Doolittle Raid
- Tuskegee Airmen, the first African American military aviators in the United States Army Air Forces

These pilots were responsible for some of the most daring and heroic feats in the history of aviation. They flew dangerous missions, often in the face of overwhelming odds, and they helped to turn the tide of the war. Their stories are an inspiration to us all.
